

Take the Right Path to Make Freight Transactions Easy

Simplify transportation with a modern, cloud-based TMS

Rough roads are ahead. The 2023 freight market is marred by record inflation and sliding rates. Trucking and logistics companies must do more than survive a downturn. Now is the time take the lead.

Investing in modern technology like a next-generation, SaaS-based TMS is one way to do that. Your fleet can avoid potential hazards by removing cost and complexity.

Various fees and complex pricing for add-on modules and integrations.

Traditional TMS

Modern TMS

An all-inclusive subscription for a fixed monthly fee that includes EDI setup, maintenance, integrations, software upgrades, training, support and more.

Scales Up or Down Easily

Integration with internal and external systems automates the flow of orders to streamline load planning, dispatch, and billing.

Limitless Connectivity

A full-featured workflow for drivers simplifies and automates routine communications.

Driver App

Make optimal load planning decisions using intelligent software to instantly evaluate all options.

AI-Powered Tools

Quickly process and make sense of your fast-growing data to make smarter decisions.

Business Intelligence

Multiple applications needed to perform basic functions waste valuable time.

Complex Functionality

Driver-dispatch communication miscues from misplaced or missing information. Drivers waste time. Frustrations mount.

Missed Opportunity

Dispatchers have limited capacity to determine the best-possible plan for drivers and loads.

Guesswork

Without access to built-in BI tools, frontline users and executives wait for reports and look in the rearview mirror.

Impaired Visibility

The Magnus TMS Streamlines Work

Improve dispatch communications, and save your company time and money. Our SaaS-based TMS is scalable, better protected against cyber-threats, easily integrated with other solutions, and updates automatically, simplifying freight transactions, back-office operations, and drivers' day-to-day duties – all while increasing profitability for your trucking company.
